

How about them apples?

GORGEOUS PRODUCE

Matt Brown's Greens has won the competitive process to supply gastronomy's premium fruit, vegetables and produce.

Criteria for the selection included premium produce, suppliers who buy directly from growers and have an active sustainability process. Matt was the obvious leader with his sensational hand picked vine ripened tomatoes, luscious figs and the lustrous leathery skin and creamy flesh of his avocados.

AMAZING PEOPLE

Thanks to food stylist and chef-at-large Fiona Zielinski who gave invaluable advice and introductions to Sam Antico and Justyn McGrigor from Murdoch produce.

Both to Matt Brown and Justyn McGrigor, thank you for the incredible generosity of time showing us around the Sydney Markets before dawn and introducing us to the market's people and systems from grower to delivery.

We met some amazing people along the way, thank you Fiat from Sunrise Asian Produce for bringing us the most stunning fresh herbs we have seen and an amazing selection of thai and vietnamese eggplant varieties. John Staniforth from Gwea Bank Apiaries and his beautiful honey will soon grace the tables of our clients as well.

Finally, thank you to our customers who have not only supported us but assisted our sustainability goals by raising the bar higher for us through their own sustainability programs:

The UNSW, The MCA, Deutsche Bank, ANZ Bank and all those private individuals who ask us about where their food is coming from.

UNSW Environmental Achievement & Leaderships Awards 2008 winner
Boardroom Caterer of the Year - 6 years in a row Wedding Caterer of the Year 2008

gastronomy
the art and science of food